U-Konserve Launches Plastic-Free Line of Silicone-Topped Stainless Steel Food Containers

Hike, Camp, Cook, Store- These Versatile Containers Are Perfect At-Home or On-The-Go

U-Konserve, a Sausalito, CA- based maker of food storage containers and accessories, recently announced the launch of their new line of silicone-topped stainless steel food containers. The new 100% plastic-free line-up is designed to meet the needs of consumers who are looking for food storage alternatives as the movement to reduce plastic pollution grows.

The new leak-proof containers are thoughtfully designed with unparalleled durability and versatility whether used at home, in a lunchbox or for a weekend campout. The new product line is available for purchase in an array of sizes and customers can purchase the containers à-la-carte or in a convenient "nesting" trio set.

U-Konserve is committed to their mission of creating zero-waste products that make it easier for consumers to change small daily habits that add up to make a big change for the planet and environment. The new line also addresses a consumer movement toward purchasing in bulk and spending more time in the kitchen prepping and storing meals.

"For the launch of this new line, it was all about responding to our customers who were encouraging us to develop a totally plastic-free solution as their needs evolved, in addition to staying true to our mission to reduce the use of plastic in our products. We are proud to say that we have done just that and we are already seeing positive results and happy customers," said Chance Claxton, VP of Sales and Product Development at U-Konserve.

Last month, U-Konserve announced its recent merger with Boulder, CO-based drinkware company, EcoVessel. EcoVessel and U-Konserve have joined forces to offer a full line-up of "zero-waste" reusable drinkware and food storage containers and accessories. Read more here.
